

THE CUEVAS FAMILY

THE MISSION CONTINUES...

The mission must go on, no matter what, despite the test of challenges. God is with us, and He has been our stronghold. Over the past few months, all we can say is that God is faithful—forever faithful. The mission can break you, yet We have fallen in love with the mission He has given us. It gives us the opportunity to grow and draw closer to our God, our only hope. The mission can break you, yet it is also the best time to see God and witness the beauty of how gentle, loving, and patient He is toward us.

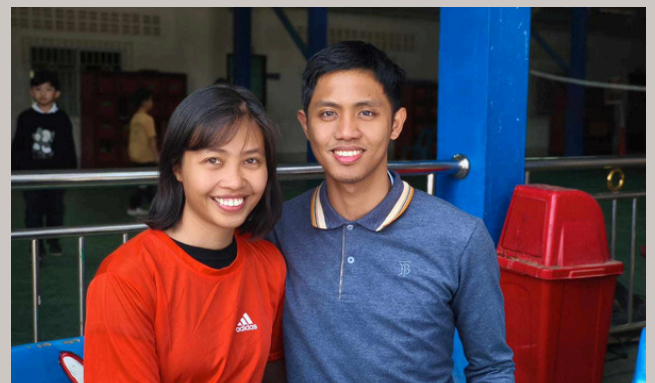

The more we face challenges, the stronger our faith grows, knowing that God has brought us to this place. Together with our children, we will share the gospel, as Christ is our example, ministering to the needs of the people around us whom we can reach with the little that we have.

Our students, their parents, co workers, fellow missionaries, and the people God has provided for us to minister to—have not only helped us fulfill our task but also enabled us to live a balanced life and remain socially oriented in this predominantly Buddhist population.

THE MISSION CONTINUES...

The school has been the foundation of our main ministry. Both Josh and I are teaching grades 4 and 5. By God's grace, we pray that our actions, speech, and thoughts are always guided by the Holy Spirit, so that our students may find comfort and hope in us.

This month, the Sports and Family Day had a great impact on the students, teachers, and parents. It enabled unity and teamwork, fostering a positive learning environment and a safe space for students and parents to work hand in hand with us.

Our students have become close to us, developing trust and a safe space where they feel secure, even when they are alone. These students don't yet know Jesus personally, but we are here to be His hands and feet, ready to be the light that shows them someone cares and loves them.

TEACHERS HAVE A SPECIAL CALLING.

THE MISSION CONTINUES...

For the past three Sundays, we have been joining a non-denominational worship service. Christians here in Xiengkhouang gather together to worship. Last Sunday's testimony was amazing, and discovering and getting to know these people little by little has been a blessing. A few of them have spoken with us, and as foreigners, it's been a blessing to share common interest and mission.

As a mother, I struggled with many things—keeping up with school responsibilities while also taking care of my children. Josh and I have been a great team in parenting, even though we both teach full-time at the school, by God's grace alone. Meeting fellow mothers has been such a comfort, as I've found a community that can relate to and sympathize with me.

We want to continue staying connected with these wonderful people. Having heard some of their stories, I believe God led us to meet them. Only God knows where this will go, but for now, He wants us to build community to further His mission of spreading the gospel, so that more people will be reached. Keep us in your prayers!

GOD'S LOVE CAN BE SEEN EVERYWHERE, LET US ALWAYS BE AVAILABLE.
